

DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear All, Merry X'mas!

As we approach the holiday season, I wish to take a moment to reflect on the hard work, determination, and creativity you have shown throughout the year. X'mas is celebrated by millions around the world, regardless of religious or cultural background. This shared celebration can foster a sense of global unity. It offers a moment of pause and reflection, a break from the rush of everyday life.

When we think about the relevance of X'mas today, it remains an important religious celebration, marking the birth of Jesus Christ and reflecting on the themes of peace, love and hope, which inspire a world that faces numerous challenges. It also emphasizes themes of giving, compassion and kindness, values that encourage people to simply showing care and empathy towards family, friends and those who are needy. It provides a meaningful reason for family gatherings and connections which are crucial for emotional well-being, at a time of global disorder.

Dear all, as you spend time with loved ones, find moments to recharge and get inspired for the challenges and opportunities ahead in the new year. Let the holiday season refresh your mind and spirit for the exciting work that lies ahead. Wish you all and your family a Merry X'mas and a Happy New Year filled with success, innovation, and personal growth.

Enjoy your holidays!

All the best wishes and blessings!

Fr. John Varghese
